Graft raps vs Mrs. Binay had no COA sanction, Mendoza admits

By Teres D. Sison

MANILA (Inquirer.net) — Mrs. Binay's presence in the graft case against her husband, President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo, has been a source of controversy. The president's lawyer, Atty. General Francisco Torres, has admitted that the president's presence in the case was not sanctioned by the Commission on Anti-Graft (COA).

Atty. General Torres said that the president's presence in the case was not sanctioned by the COA. He said that the president's presence in the case was a result of her husband's presence in the case.

More gridlock in US Congress; gay senator wins

WASHINGTON, September 2 — The Senate on Tuesday passed a bill to end the federal government's ban on gay, lesbian, and transgender people from serving in the military. The bill, known as the Don't Ask, Don't Tell Repeal Act, was passed by a 68-32 vote.

The bill would allow gay, lesbian, and transgender people to serve in the military without having to disclose their sexual orientation to their superiors.

The bill was passed by a 68-32 vote, with 19 Democrats and 49 Republicans in favor. The bill is expected to be signed into law by President Obama.

The bill would also allow gay, lesbian, and transgender people to serve in the military without having to disclose their sexual orientation to their superiors.

Lessons from an election

WITH THE ELECTIONS over, the Philippines has entered a new phase in its democratic journey. The results of the polls, which were held in a free and fair manner, have provided a clear picture of the Filipino people's choice for their leaders.

EDITORIAL The election results have shown that the Filipino people have chosen a new president and a new Congress. This is a significant milestone in the country's history, as it marks the first time that the people have exercised their right to vote in a free and fair election. The results also show that the people have chosen a new president who is committed to the principles of democracy and human rights.

DOH raises alert on toxic mugs, noodles

By Philip C. Salazar

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The Department of Health (DOH) has raised its alert on the health risks of eating mugs and noodles, particularly those made from polystyrene, a plastic material that can leach chemicals into food and beverages.

The DOH issued a bulletin on Tuesday, advising consumers to avoid eating or drinking from mugs and noodles made from polystyrene, especially those that are cheap and disposable.

The bulletin states that polystyrene is a synthetic material that is commonly used in the production of mugs and noodles. It is a type of plastic that is known to be toxic and can leach chemicals into food and beverages, particularly when heated.

The DOH also advised consumers to look for mugs and noodles made from safer materials, such as ceramic or glass, and to avoid eating or drinking from mugs and noodles that are cheap and disposable.

The DOH also advised consumers to look for mugs and noodles that are labeled as "food grade" and to avoid those that are labeled as "disposable" or "cheap".

Pinoys netizens catch US election fever

By Philip C. Salazar

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Filipino netizens are caught up in the excitement of the upcoming US presidential election, with many expressing their support for the Democratic Party's Joe Biden and Kamala Harris.

On social media platforms like Facebook and Twitter, netizens are posting messages of support for Biden and Harris, as well as expressing their disappointment with the Republican Party's Joe Trump and Mike Pence.

Some netizens are also posting memes and jokes related to the election, while others are sharing their own opinions on the candidates and the election process.

The excitement is particularly high among Filipino netizens who are of Filipino descent, as they are often seen as having a strong connection to the US and its politics.

However, some netizens are also expressing their concerns about the election, particularly regarding the potential for a "fake election" or the influence of foreign powers.

Overall, the US election has become a major topic of discussion for Filipino netizens, with many expressing their interest and involvement in the process.

Leonen, Diokno lead JBC short list for SC associate justice

By Philip C. Salazar

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The Judicial Branch Committee (JBC) has released a short list of candidates for the position of associate justice of the Supreme Court, with names of Justice Leonen and Justice Diokno leading the list.

The JBC, which is responsible for recommending candidates for the Supreme Court, announced the short list on Tuesday. The list includes several names, but Leonen and Diokno are the most prominent.

Justice Leonen is a current member of the Supreme Court, while Justice Diokno is a former member. Both are highly respected judges and legal scholars.

The JBC also announced that it will hold a public hearing on the short list of candidates, allowing the public to express their views on the candidates.

The hearing is expected to be held in the coming weeks, and will be a key event in the process of selecting the next associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Comelec OKs disabled party but disqualifies anti-Red group

By Philip C. Salazar

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The Commission on Elections (Comelec) has approved a political party for disabled voters but has disqualified an anti-Red group, a move that has sparked controversy.

The Comelec announced its decision on Tuesday, stating that it had approved the "Party for Disabled Voters" (PDV) for the upcoming elections. The PDV is a party that represents the interests of disabled voters and has been active in advocating for their rights.

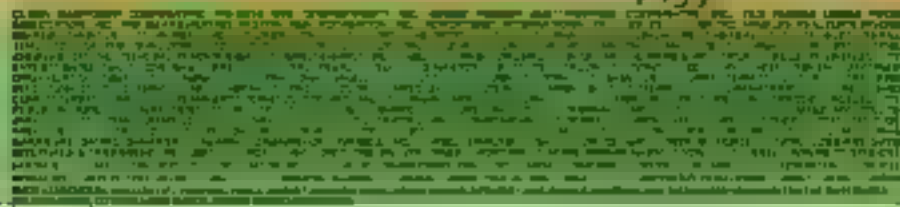

However, the Comelec also disqualified the "Anti-Red Party" (ARP), a group that has been active in opposing the government's policies and has been accused of being a front group for the Communist Party of the Philippines (CPP).

The decision has sparked controversy, with some groups arguing that the Comelec's decision is biased and that it is unfairly disqualifying the ARP. Others argue that the Comelec's decision is justified and that it is necessary to ensure the integrity of the election process.

The Comelec has stated that it will continue to monitor the situation and will take any necessary steps to ensure the fairness of the election process.

Eight in 10 Chinese want political reforms, says survey

BEIJING, July 25 (AP) — A survey of 10,000 Chinese people found that eight in 10 want political reforms, including more freedom of speech and the press, and the right to elect local officials.

The survey, conducted by the Pew Research Center, found that 80 percent of Chinese people want more political reforms, including more freedom of speech and the press, and the right to elect local officials.

The survey also found that 60 percent of Chinese people want more economic reforms, including more private enterprise and more competition.
